

Women in Leadership – 9 November 2020

Dr Troy Coyle

On Monday 9 November, we held our last Women in Leadership event for 2020.

Dr Troy Coyle, CEO of the Heavy Engineering Research Association, spoke about her career journey starting as a marine biologist through to working in heavy engineering and challenges of being a quietly spoken women with a passion for caring for the environment (including as an activist on Sea Shepherd challenging dolphin killing in Japan). Troy shared how timing is so important and that many of her ideas for change that were often before their time (so she did the research under the radar) are now sought after by industry.

Our next event: TBC

For more information on our Women in Leadership events, please email marie.callander@abmm.co.nz

AULD BREWER MAZENGARB & MCEWEN

Lawyers and Notary Public Roia Whai Mana Take Tūmatanui